JIMS CORNER

It's a what? You won't believe what I just read. Can you imagine an AR-15 shooting something other than bullets. Well it seems that's what happens when you combine it with a crossbow. That's right, a crossbow. You can now buy a crossbow upper receiver, put it on your AR and shoot bolts (crossbow arrows) instead of bullets. It looks cool, gives you the opportunity to get more practice with your AR, and gives Feinstein & Pelosi nothing to criticize, unless they call it an "assault crossbow", but it's not cheap. Sells for around $1300, but what the hell, it's fun
